ABSTRACT

The document is a guide to be used by members of a community who have volunteered to speak about their occupation to a class in grades three through eight. The handbook suggests topics and approaches suitable to each grade level and includes a description of the characteristics of students at each grade level. It is part of a program based on a systems approach to career education. The program is explained in CE 000 773, and a curriculum guide is available as CE 000 775. (AG)

What Shall We Be?

000 774

Career education represents the total effort of public education and the community to help all individuals become familiar with the value of a work oriented society, to integrate those values into their personal value structure, and to implement those values in their lives ways that make work possible meaningful, and satisfying to each individual.

Thank you for accepting the responsibility of collaborating with our schools to fulfill our duty to the youth of today.
